Facilities Manager and Exhibit Fabricator Mike Napierski puts together a working model of a canal lock Wednesday as the Sciencenter prepares to open its exhibit "From Here to There." The exhibit opens Saturday and explores how things move by land, sea and air. The exhibit has many hands-on activities, including a one-person hovercraft. According to Tim Scott, Assistant Director for Program, the exhibit was created at the Sciencenter six or seven years ago and has been traveling to other museums since then.
