

I fight germs inside your body.

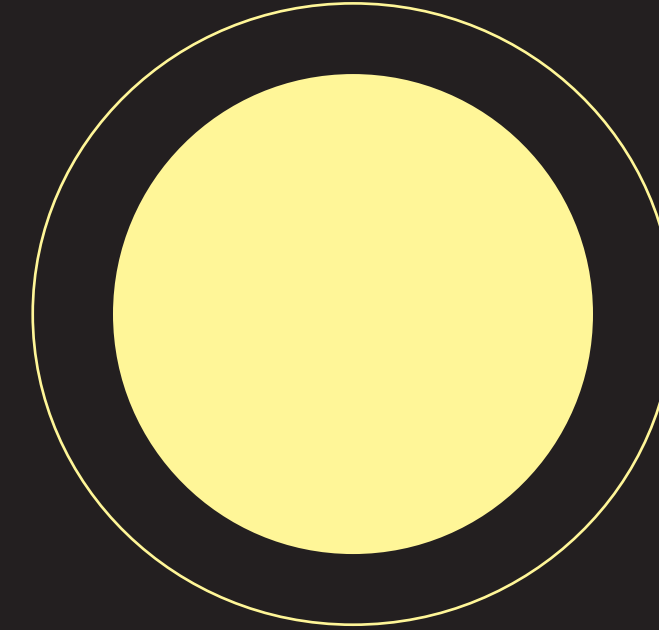

I carry messages from your brain to the rest of your body and back again.

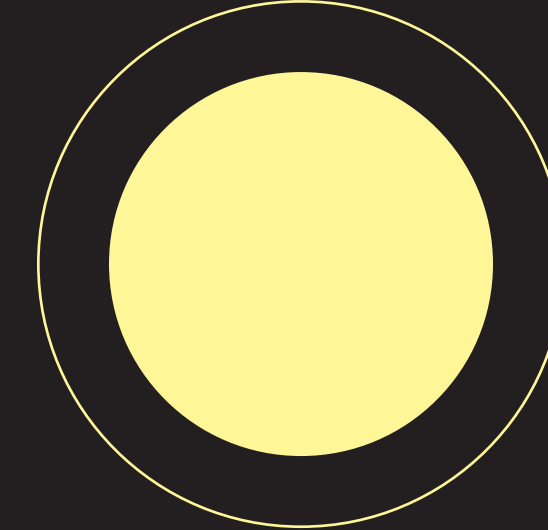

I carry oxygen from your lungs to the rest of your body.

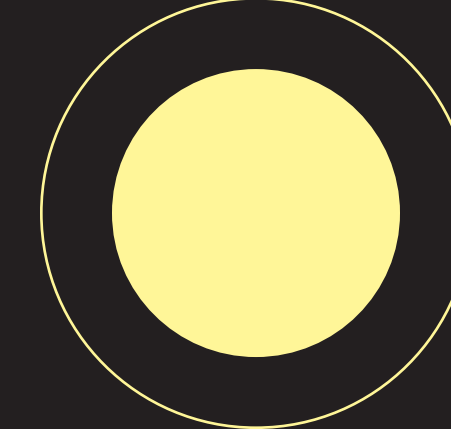

I can make you sick with a cold, flu, or chicken pox.

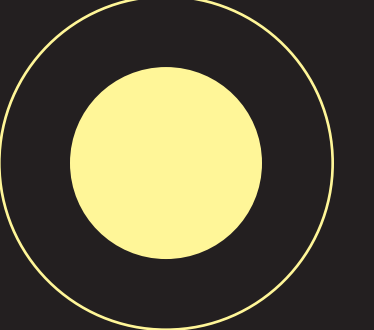

I am a set of instructions inside cells that tells them what to do.

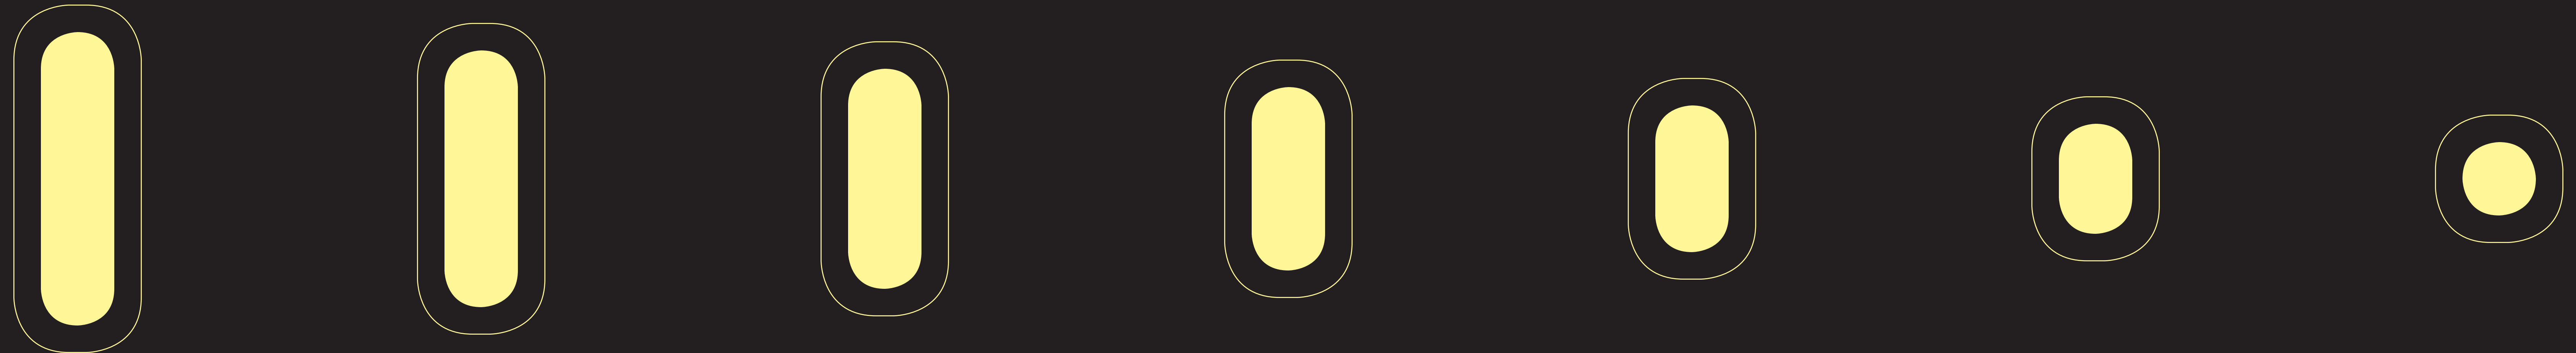

I store lots of information in a tiny space.

I can make you sick. I help digest your food

Big

Tiny