Sciencenter director to study European museums

Sciencenter executive director Charlie Trautmann has been named an Alexander von Humboldt Fellow and will spend the next four months abroad studying how science museums across Europe engage museum audiences in issues relating to the environment and sustainability.

Trautmann will begin his research at the Deutsches Museum in Munich and will go on to study museums in Spain, Italy, France, Belgium, Sweden and Finland.

For more information on Trautmann's research, visit ctrautmann.blogspot.com or visit the Sciencenter Web site at www.sciencenter.org.
