Eric Brom, 8, of Hillcrest near Binghamton, and Ryliegh Scales, of Dryden, look at the meteorite that was put on permanent exhibit Monday by the Sciencenter in front of the Tompkins Trust Company branch on Seneca Street in downtown Ithaca. The 88-pound addition was placed on the Sciencenter's planet walk within the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter. On the planet walk, Mars is on Bank Alley and Jupiter is in front of the DeWitt Mall also on Seneca Street.
